The Michael Boynton Case.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The report of the secretary of state in the case of Michael P. Boynton reviews the correspondence which … Boynton, Minister Lowell and Consul Barton. It sets forth that Boynton was one of the defendants or traversers in the state prosecution at Dublin and was proceeded against in common with prominent members of parliament from Ireland and others of the Irish land league, that the proceeding was terminated on the … January. … American citizenship was presented in behalf of Boynton … Boynton … visited the United States … at Dublin in November and produced a passport issued him by the state department … November … 1880 requesting … visa. Barton, consul there, under … in the discharge of his official duty in the premises declined to attach the desired visa on the ground that Boynton was one of the traversers in the pending state trial and asked the department to instruct him as to his course in case Boynton should apply to him for protection as an American citizen. The department answered postponing instruction … further application … approved Barton's refusal … the visa not on the ground on which Barton had alleged but because of a long standing … that Boynton applied … the record of the department … native born citizen of the United States having been born in the State of New York. Early in February last … application to the consul at Dublin for a new passport which application under the rules was transmitted with the old passport to the United States legation at London. In his letter of communication to Minister Lowell Consul Barton conveyed the impression that the department had approved his refusal to attach his visa to the passport on the ground that Boynton was one of the traversers at the state trial, whereupon Lowell asked for the correspondence in the case and at the same time suggested Boynton direct his application to the legation. Barton sent to Lowell in February the correspondence he had with the department and mentioned the circumstances that Boynton had told him that he was a native born citizen of the United States, having been born in Ireland and taken to America when a child. On the second of March last the British parliament passed a measure known as the coercion act. Under that statute a warrant for the arrest of Michael Boynton of Kildare was issued and Boynton was arrested on the 5th of March. He at once telegraphed Minister Lowell demanding protection of the United States. Minister Lowell thereupon had several interviews with the British secretary of state for foreign affairs in regard to Boynton's complaint and also instructed Barton to visit the prisoner and obtain proof in regard to his American citizenship and if the fact of such citizenship was sufficiently confirmed to take energetic steps for his protection. Barton visited Boynton and received from him a circumstantial declaration that he was born in Ireland in 1840 and his father emigrated to the United States in 1850, and that the younger Boynton served in the U. S. Navy in 1864 and 1865. Thereupon Minister Lowell endeavored to remove the doubt suggested by the discrepancy between Boynton's statement and the state department record in the matter of his application for a passport and to that end wrote … to Boynton asking an explanation … a … statement to Consul Barton denying the record in regard to this passport, alleging his father's full naturalization while he was a minor but without … the date … is the basis of his claim to American citizenship. He also claimed … citizenship … U. S. navy. Meanwhile the … urgent … [illegible]

… United States citizenship … [illegible] … that Boynton is entitled to protection as a citizen of the United States, that Michael P. Boynton has for years honestly believed himself a citizen of the United States and that he has acted … in that belief without … Unfortunately however the question of naturalization … depends on the law and facts and not on sentiment and belief. I would hesitate to take every step warrantable by international law and so strongly does his case appeal to sympathy that if the … of the senate should favor such a course I would cheerfully counsel the president to appeal to the friendly benevolence of the British government, representing Boynton's position as that of a man who, secure for years in … conviction of his rights as a citizen, has failed to verify them as he could have done … and urging his immediate trial if … against him … or his release on condition of returning to this country here to acquire a status and fulfill the obligations of a faithful and law abiding citizen.

The official correspondence in the case and the evidence possessed as to Boynton's allegiance are herewith transmitted.

As evidence of the widespread interest excited in this country by the arrest of Boynton the report was accompanied by a number of voluminous documents, the greater part being appeals to the government to protect Boynton on the ground that he is an American citizen.

SENATE ADJOURNED.

Chandler Rejected----Other Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—In the senate today Harris having taken the chair Pendleton offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of the senate be due and are hereby tendered to the vice president for the courtesy, ability and impartiality with which he has presided over the deliberations of the senate during the present session.

When the doors were reopened they having been kept closed while the foregoing resolution was acted upon, the senate on motion of Pendleton adjourned sine die. Contrary to the usual custom no president pro tem of the senate was elected.

The senate rejected the nomination of Wm. E. Chandler as solicitor general. The vote is understood to be a substantially party division.

NO MORE EXECUTIVE BUSINESS.

W… May 20.—The president having said he had no further business for the senate to transact it went into executive session.

SENATE CONFIRMATION.

The senate confirmed Wallace … White … Albert W. Bash, … collector of customs, Puget Sound.

The senate is now considering Chandler's nomination, democrats refusing to let it go over. Chandler's friends admit his case is almost hopeless, all the democrats and both Pennsylvania senators opposing him.

The senate confirmed the New York nominations and Scofield judge of the court of claims.

All nominations of any importance which have been sent in these dispatches were confirmed.

Mexican Changes.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 20.—The following changes rumored and generally believed are: Senor … Mariscal will go to Washington, Emilio Velasco minister to France to succeed Monesco, Porfirio Diaz will go to France; General Pacheco to replace Diaz in the department of public works; Senator Roman Fernandez to succeed Pacheco as governor of the federal district.

STATE NEWS.

Rumors of Great Disturbance at Ruby Camp.

Pacing Race Declared Off for Jockeying.

Unsuccessful Attempt of a Leadville Incendiary.

Incendiary Attempt at Leadville.

LEADVILLE, May 20.—The Chronicle contains an account of another attempt to fire … on lower State street. Four planks were removed from the floor of an empty house leaving an opening about a foot deep. In this a lot of pine … saturated with coal oil had been started, and but for timely discovery the building would probably have been in flames in five minutes. The scoundrels planned their work well, and … any progress would have spread with great rapidity. The track of the incendiary could be easily traced. He had opened a window in the rear of the house and … Some tracks could be seen in the soft earth outside the door but they were so confused … that no … could be made of them. At the … there was a brisk wind … that would have swept the flames … adjoining … and … it would have been next to impossible to extinguish.

The Ruby Camp Disturbance.

DENVER, May 20.—A … Special … May 19 says: There are rumors that a great disturbance is in progress at Ruby camp … A writ was issued from … the sheriff … county to take the mine. It is reported here that the United States commissioner … has issued a writ for the arrest of the sheriff and his posse and all who are connected with the jump, on the ground that it was … the … reservation and that the … have no jurisdiction there. The deputy sheriff who had the writ ordered out the militia and twenty men responded, leaving here at six tonight. The wires are down between here and Irwin and it is impossible to tell what the situation is. At noon two men were reported wounded but not seriously.

The Races.

DENVER, May 20.—Today's races were very light and with the exception of the pacing race were mere walkovers for the winners. The weather was fine and the usual crowd was present. The first race was for Colorado stakes for two-year-olds five eighths of a mile, entrance $25, one hundred dollars added, second to receive fifty and third twenty five dollars. The starters were Mollie and Stella. The latter won easily, time 1:16¼.

The second race was a running race all ages one-half mile heats three in five, purse $300, $170 to first, $100 to second, and $30 to third. The starters were Julia and Fusilade. The latter was the favorite and won the first three heats easily. Time :52½ and :5…

The next and last was a pacing race open to all, mile heats in harness for a purse of $400, $200 to first, $100 to third, $60 to fourth, $40 to fifth. The starters were Lady Rose, McFadden Duster, Black Wetzel and Sucker State. Duster won the first, second and fourth heats while owing to jockeying the third was a dead heat. The jockeying in this race was so evident that the judges unanimously declared the race off and that all pools were to be considered off and the drivers and their horses are barred for the future from all chance of entry upon any track run under the National association rules. Pools on the Pumeo-Curtis race tomorrow are largely in favor of Miss Pumeo.

Doings of the District Court.

DENVER, May 20.—In the district court today the following prisoners were sentenced: John Hughes (colored), aged 19, who served a two years and a half term for grand larceny and has been at liberty only six months, was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary for attempted murder. James Brown, for grand larceny, was sentenced to three years. Prince Gobbs for robbery, one year. Robert Khuff forgery four years.

A Mysterious Explosion.

LEADVILLE, May 20.—The Evening Chronicle says: Early this morning a quantity of Giant powder exploded with terrific violence at a little magazine on the Arkansas. The magazine had been used jointly by several mines. The shot tore the house to pieces and scattered the fragments far and wide. Luckily no one was in the immediate vicinity, and nobody hurt. The cause of the explosion is a mystery, and as yet no clue has been discovered.

Drinking Samples.

LEADVILLE, May 20.—George M. Campbell, traveling salesman of a New York jewelry house, was before the police court this morning charged with drunkenness. He had pawned two thousand dollars worth of samples and drank it all up in three days. Campbell was the picture of despondency this morning and his nervous system was so shattered that he was almost unable to stand.

CAVE OF A BLACK HILLS MINE.

Thirteen Men Supposed to Have Lost Their Lives.

DEADWOOD, D. T., May 20.—A cave occurred at the Golden Terra mine, Terraville, at seven o'clock last evening by which it is supposed thirteen men will lose their lives. The night shift of sixty men was just coming on but only about twenty had entered the tunnel, when a large body of earth fell in a distance of nearly two hundred feet from the mouth, tearing and throwing the timbers at a fearful rate as far as 100 or 200 feet. One man, Thomas Green, was thrown by compression of the air nearly eighty feet out of the tunnel … Two … were blown … through the tunnel towards the Highland mine at Lead City. One escaped unhurt, another was struck by timbers and died last night. Eleven were buried under the debris. The cave is supposed to be about two hundred and fifty feet long, one hundred wide and eighty feet deep, and occurred directly over the large ore chamber, completely filling it. Hundreds of miners were at once set to work … and shifts were changed every few minutes, only five or six being able to work on either side of the cave at a time. The tunnel runs entirely through the hill, … the Terra and Highland mine.

… from the Lead City side of the hill a large number of men are now working … but … it will certainly take … The men who were working … [illegible] … Word has not … Farley … It is expected they will … this afternoon. The … great excitement … no fault with the timbers or workings of the mine.

DEADWOOD, D. T., May 20.—The nine men who had been imprisoned in the mine since 7 o'clock last evening were all rescued this afternoon at 2 o'clock, none of them sustaining any injury. This leaves only three, Thomas Green, James Farley and James Becky, killed, and five slightly injured. Farley was a single man. Becky leaves a wife and family who are now en route to the Hills. Green also leaves a wife and five children. The work of clearing the tunnel out is progressing rapidly and it is thought by Sunday the mine will be entirely clear. … has been occasioned by the accident. Subscriptions for the relief of those made homeless and destitute have been called for by the press of the Black Hills and the people have responded liberally. The disaster has been the principal topic of conversation today and there are many conjectures as to the cause, but no blame can possibly attach either to the company or any one else. The prompt and heroic efforts of the managers of the mine and volunteers to rescue their fellow laborers is deserving of the highest praise.

Railroad Building.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Commercial Bulletin publishes a four column list of railroads built from March 30th, 1880, to April 1st, 1881, and those projected. From this it appears that the number of miles actually constructed amounts to 8,112, the number of roads being 1?4. The number of miles projected amounts to 14,277, number of roads 182. … projected roads are capitalized to the amount of $…,000, total mileage being …,224. For each mile of road there is issued about $17,625 of capital stock.

Parliamentary Inquisition.

LONDON, May 20.—In the commons today Collins, conservative, took the parliamentary oath and occupied the seat for Knaresborough to which he was recently elected, vice Sir Thompson unseated. It was attempted by Sir Wilfred Lawson, radical, to question him concerning his religious opinion, but he was prevented by an uproar among the conservatives. Sir Wilfred Lawson said the precedent relative to Bradlaugh had instituted a parliamentary inquisition and all should be treated alike. The speaker pointed out that Collins' case differed entirely from that of Bradlaugh. Gladstone endorsed the speaker's ruling.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, May 20.—The past has been an active week, sales of all kinds amounting upwards of 2,500,000 pounds. There is a steadier and better tone to the market, but in prices there is no improvement nor can any improvement scarcely be looked for at present. There is not much wool in the country, and the fact that considerable old is still on hand with the entire clip of the country still to come forward, which will have a tendency to check any upward movement.

LEADVILLE.

Attractive Summer Resorts--Railroad Progress.

The Little Sliver Closes Its Shaft.

From the Regular Correspondent of the Gazette.

LEADVILLE, May 18, 1881.—Our annual May snow storm is a little ahead of time. It usually comes during the last ten days of the month but yesterday the chilling winds and forerunnings gave warning of its earlier approach. This morning the snow was three inches deep on the sidewalks and two inches more have fallen during the day. It is melting rapidly, however, and we shall only have a few days of mud to remind us of it. The climate of Leadville is characteristically equable. It is neither intensely cold in winter nor uncomfortably warm in summer. The seasons do not vary greatly in temperature from year to year. The past winter although commencing somewhat earlier than usual was not especially severe. The only noteworthy variation in seasons is in the amount of snow and rain fall.

The climate of the Upper Arkansas valley during the hot months of summer is so cool and refreshing that it cannot fail to attract sooner or later the attention of the … multitude of the east who annually … in summer in search of comfort at the seashore or fashionable watering places … and find themselves more uncomfortable than before. In this climate … fifty degrees … during the month of July and August. During six weeks in these summer months last year I found from personal observations made on Fryer Hill that the thermometer … at eleven o'clock … How the sweltering sufferers of the east will long … upper valleys in the way of positive comfort and … have only to be made … known to the people of the east to induce them to turn their steps hither. It is true hotel accommodations are scarce at present but these will quickly follow the demand and beautiful places of resort spring up like magic. And then to thousands the novelty of camping out—the sweet fascinations of a partial return to the primitive life of the … more attractive than the platitudes and flirtations of a fashionable hotel.

The one thing which will make such results possible is the existence of railroads. The directing power of such a corporation as the Denver & Rio Grande has more to do with the material progress of the state than any other possible influence outside of natural resources. Indeed it is in making available her natural resources that the railroad becomes the friend of the state and should command the warm support and friendship of all citizens. I think the people of Leadville have come to appreciate most heartily the enterprise of the Denver & Rio Grande in pushing its tracks rapidly into the wilderness and opening up rich mineral districts which will become tributary to this market. Work on both the Eagle river and Blue river or Kokomo extensions has been resumed promptly upon the departure of the heavy winter snows. Red Cliff will soon be a near neighbor and Breckinridge by fall. A rich cluster of mining camps will then swell the stream of travel and traffic over a railroad to the manor born and now a family favorite.

The Little Sliver mine, adjoining the Lee on the east, after finding considerable fair ore—an extension of the Lee chute—and battling with a river of water for several months, has closed its shaft. The pumping machinery will be attached to a heavier pump in the American shaft on the same property. It is claimed that the property can be worked to better advantage by the change. There is no disguising the fact that the results of operations on the Sliver have not been as encouraging as were expected. The Lee ore chute has been the wonder of the camp but like all things earthly it must have an end and the end seems to be practically not far within the Sliver line. The Matchless has been digging away faithfully at the other end, which is the head and has proven more valuable than the foot. The great glory of this wonderful deposit has departed, but the crumbs have not all been swept up and other glories may yet be disclosed.

THE SILVER CLIFF CELEBRATION.

How the Advent of the Railroad will be Observed.

A special excursion will be run over the Denver & Rio Grande between Denver and Silver Cliff, on Monday, May 23, in order to give the residents along the line an opportunity to attend the celebration at Silver Cliff in honor of the completion of the branch railway to Custer county. The train will leave this city at 10:10 a. m., on Monday, arriving at Westcliffe at 4:45 p. m. Returning leave Westcliffe at 10 a. m., on Wednesday, May 25th. The fare for the round trip between this city and Silver Cliff has been placed at $5.?. The citizens of Silver Cliff have made abundant provision for the accommodation of their guests and their sojourn in the city will be made as pleasant as possible. They have appointed a large committee on Reception and others on Toast, Music, Refreshments, Conveyances, Sleeping accommodations, etc.

A large number of state and municipal officers in Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Canon City and other points, have been invited to attend the celebration by the mayor of Silver Cliff and to these Mr. … Nims, the passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande will furnish free transportation. All holding invitations in this city are requested to present them at the train upon its arrival there, as they will be recognized as vouchers for their transportation. This will be one of the best and cheapest opportunities offered our citizens to visit Silver Cliff and as the excursionists will remain there one day and two nights abundance of time will be given to see the leading mines and cities of Custer county.

ROBERT McWADE.

The Attractions at the Opera House Last Night and What is Promised for To-day.

Another good audience greeted Robert McWade and his company upon their second appearance at the Opera House last night. The entertainment consisted of a combination of comedy and burlesque opening with … in which Mr. McWade assumed the title character of … supported by the remainder of the company.

This was followed by an Irish comedy entitled … Miles … Mr. McWade taking … In this character Mr. McWade proved that he spoke the Irish brogue fully as well as the Dutch and by his amusing attitudes and queer expressions he kept the audience in a roar of continual laughter. The other characters in the cast were … well presented especially those of … and Miss … This comedy … was decidedly … and McWade as the jolly Irishman … brilliant success. To conclude the evening's performance the company presented the most amusing of all burlesques, The Dutch Richard III. No better impersonator of … could have been asked for. In the play of Rip Van Winkle he had but little chance to display his ability as a Dutch comedian, but as Dutch Dick the III he was given full sway, and well did he improve the proffered opportunity. Although but little acting was required of the minor characters in the cast, they performed well what they undertook. This afternoon at two o'clock the company will give a Rip Van Winkle matinee and the rates of admission have been placed at a remarkably low figure. … cents will be the general admission to all parts of the house. Children … cents. This evening Mr. McWade will appear for the last time in this city on which occasion he will personate Terence O'More in Kathleen Mavourneen.

ROAD AGENTS DEPREDATIONS.

The San Juan Stage Coach Attacked and Robbed and Frank Bartlett Wounded.

Barlow & Sanderson's west bound coach from Alamosa was stopped by three masked men at 10 o'clock Wednesday night three miles east of Clear creek. Before ordering the driver to stop they fired three shots dangerously wounding Frank Bartlett, engineer of the Del Norte extension of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad. They took $100 in money and his gold watch and chain. Five passengers inside were not molested. All the mail and paper sacks were taken together with the treasurer's pouch. There is no clue to the robbers. A reward of $500 is offered by the citizens of Del Norte, and $500 by the Denver & Rio Grande railway, for the capture of the robbers. Through a private telegram received in this city yesterday we learn that the wound received by Mr. Frank Bartlett is not …. At the time the attack was made Mr. Bartlett was sitting outside with the driver, and was thus exposed to the fire of the road agent. The ball passed through the fleshy part of the thigh.

THE NEW HOTEL.

Plans of the Building Expected to Reach Here in a Few Days.

The revised plans of the new hotel which were drawn up by Messrs. Peabody and Stearns, the New York architects, are expected to reach the city within a few days. It has been decided to use stone in the construction of the building but just what kind or quality will be used is not fully known. As soon as the plans reach here steps will at once be taken to proceed with the work, and subscribers for stock may expect to be called upon within the next two weeks for twenty-five per cent. of the amount subscribed by them. From what we can learn the plans proposed by the New York architects provide for the construction of a handsome building with all the modern conveniences. A full description of the building will be furnished our readers as soon as the plans are received from New York.

Mr. … DeRemer, assistant engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, was in the city yesterday.

General W. H. French died yesterday. He was born in Baltimore in 1815. He graduated at West Point ... and immediately went into active service in Florida while the Seminole war was in progress. He was in the Mexican war and other wars on the border until the breaking out of the war of the rebellion. He was appointed brigadier general in May, 1861, and served throughout the war. He will be remembered as the successor of Sickles in the command of the third army corps after the battle of Gettysburg. His command took an active part in all the battles and campaigns that have made the Army of the Potomac illustrious.

After waiting awhile Judge McMorris was appointed, the necessity of placating Senator Hill, and of "sitting down" on the "Grant crowd" in Colorado, preventing the appointment of Senator Peck, who was disposed to go to work at once, and who has the courage to live up to his convictions in this matter. —Leadville Herald.

The Herald has made a mistake several times in this matter. Judge McMorris was not Senator Hill's candidate, but Senator Teller's. The latter suggested the nomination both to Senator Hill and to Judge McMorris. This is not an idle surmise based on alleged rumor circulated by Judge Coulter, but a veritable fact which can be substantiated by two letters written by Senator Teller not marked confidential, and which, we presume, may be given to the public if demanded.

The failures of the administration are frequently spoken of by anti-administration papers. The New York Tribune gives the following list of some of its successes:

"No other administration in the history of the country, we believe it may be truly said, has ever accomplished so much for the public welfare within its first two months as has been accomplished by the administration of General Garfield. It has honored the nation abroad, guarded its foreign commerce, protected its credit and saved it $14,000,000 yearly in interest, purged one branch of its service of a great scandal, and stopped a great leak. In all this, rare ability, unflinching fidelity, pure and earnest patriotism have been shown by the president and his cabinet. Genuine statesmanship, the quality that makes a country more prosperous and more honored, shines throughout the splendid record of these two months of public service."

The senate has finally adjourned, and the dead-lock and fight over patronage has become history. The senate adjourns with much less dignity than it did when it assembled for the extra session. To be frank, it must be admitted that the republicans come out of the contest in bad shape. They made a fight to elect certain officers and failed through the defection of the two New York senators. The democrats made some very foolish speeches early in the start, but their conservative course since the resignation of the New York senators, which threw the control of the senate into their hands, is worthy of commendation. It is only one of the few times that the democracy has improved a good opportunity. They might have reorganized the committees and had entire instead of partial control of the organization. But they wisely refrained and have really won a victory. The republican senators led by Conkling brought on the contest and Conkling left them in the minority by resigning.

[illegible] ... The president of course ... consult the senators and representatives of any state regarding any appointments ... made, but he is under no obligation whatever to do this. No senator has a right to be consulted. At the most it is only a privilege. Senator Conkling in the present contest claimed the right to be consulted, and because he was not, resigned. It shows how far he had arrogantly assumed rights which didn't belong to him. President Garfield in denying and ... founded claims has vindicated the rights and powers vested in him. ... He ... deserves the thanks of all men who favor the adjustment of powers between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of our government. The senate hereafter will better understand its own limitations of power and will be less aggressive in encroaching on the executive. It was high time the executive should vindicate his rights.

Setting Out for a Quiet Time.

Denver Republican.

General Garfield, it has been announced, started out to have a quiet and harmonious administration. To that end he chose James G. Blaine for his premier and confidential adviser. That was about as sensible a proceeding as it would be for a person starting out for a quiet ride, to put a can of nitro glycerine under his carriage seat. The result in each of the cases would be recorded in the same words—"the remains are being gathered up."

Conkling's Desertion.

Denver Tribune.

The Conkling resignation continues to be the political sensation and the ex-senator gets less sympathy every hour. The hollowness of the arrogance and pretense called "stalwartism" has never been better illustrated than in Conkling's base desertion of the party at a time when the importance of his vote almost neutralized the insufferable egotism of his claims.

Robertson's Strength.

Silver Cliff Republican.

Robertson seems to be as strong in the New York senate as he is in the United States senate. When word was received in Albany that he had been confirmed the senate adjourned, and the members engaged in a jubilee of congratulations and rejoicing. This does not argue very well for Conkling and Platt.

Dictators Crushed.

Greeley Tribune.

In other words, they claimed the right to dictate what nominations should be made. Such a principle, if once established, would take from the president all control of the selection of his subordinates, while he would be held responsible for their acts. Such a principle the American people are not likely to favor.

My Dear Sir: ... [illegible] ... Brown ...

"I could speak for my race—he died for my race. I could live for my race—John Brown could die for my race. My zeal was bounded by time; his stretched away into the silent depths of eternity. His call to me was to come up higher, and not feeling ready to rise to his height his calls troubled me; still I was drawn to him—loved him. He was one of the few men I have met with the greatness of whose soul grew upon me the more I saw of him. Thanks to Ingalls and to Edmunds—the two noble senators, one speaking for free and glorious Kansas, and the other for Vermont (whose green mountains were in the darkest days of slavery too sacred to liberty to tolerate the footprints of a slave hound) for the stinging rebuke they gave to the senator who tried to stamp upon the grave of John Brown."

"But I only meant to thank you, which I do most heartily, for calling my attention to this letter of the glorious old heroic martyr.

"Very truly yours, FREDERICK DOUGLASS."

A Question Set at Rest.

New York letter Washington Republic.

As this seems to be running into a Readily letter, it is as well to set forever at rest a question which seems to vex the provincial press—the difference of age between John T. Raymond and his new wife. The young lady, a daughter of the well-known Rose Eytinge, is twenty-three years old. She is rather pretty, amiable, and has been fortunate enough and studious enough to acquire a far better education than the average stage lady, whose orthography and geography are about on a par. The present Mrs. Colonel Sellers is the daughter of Rose Eytinge's first husband, a Mr. Barnes, a brother of the surgeon general of the army. He was rather a loose fish, I have heard, and no cordiality existed between the brothers, although both are medical men, who are supposed to always live in harmony. Colonel Sellers is not older than his mother-in-law; she is forty-five and he is little over forty-four. An actor's or an actress' age is always an interesting subject to the intelligent public. Heaven knows why. So I set this paragraph in motion to penetrate the ... of Arizona ... of Texas and enliven the dull farmers' firesides in Illinois and Indiana towns.

ABE ROBERTS,
Proprietor of M [illegible]

[illegible] yesterday.

The firemen were out for a practice run on Nevada avenue last evening.

City Clerk McGovney was busy yesterday assessing the merchants and business men.

Mr. M. C. Wilbur's horse "Guide" won the [illegible] at Denver on Thursday.

[illegible] meeting of the board of directors of the new hotel on Monday next.

[illegible] at Manitou [illegible] by the 1st of June.

[illegible]

Mr. F. [illegible]

Mr. [illegible] arrived in the city yesterday from [illegible] City, and registered at the Colorado Springs hotel.

Major Sumner, Mr. J. M. Ellison and Mr. Roy Robbison were among yesterday's departures for the Denver races.

The Robert McWade company will go from here to Denver, where they will play a week's engagement at the Sixteenth street theatre.

Charlotte Thompson and her excellent company will in all probability play a two nights' engagement here the first week in June.

The 20 mile race between Miss Curtis and Miss Pinneo comes off today at Denver and many Colorado Springs people will witness the race.

There will be a practice game of base ball on the Weber street grounds this afternoon, between the D. & R. G. club and a picked nine.

Owing to the diligence of the collector more poll tax has already been collected and turned into the city treasury than upon any previous year.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road failed to connect with the D. & R. G. yesterday and in consequence there was no eastern mail.

Mr. J. H. Hazleton, the manager of the opera house, informs us that John T. Raymond will probably appear in this city in June.

A large number of prospectors are daily leaving the city for the mining camps. The bulk of travel seems to be toward the mining camps of the Gunnison county.

A telegram received in this city at 11.50 a. m. yesterday was delivered to the person to whom it was addressed at 2.50 p. m.; just three hours after it was received.

All the children who have not seen Rip Van Winkle should attend the matinee at the Opera House this afternoon. General admission fifty cents; children half-price.

Messrs. Robinson & Kirkpatrick, the proprietors of the Bon Ton restaurant, have secured the services of a new cook, and they now advertise to set a better table than ever before.

Several of the large new engines recently purchased by the Denver & Rio Grande railroad company are now running regularly on the road. They are much heavier than those formerly in use.

Look out for the 100 yard foot race on the Weber street ball ground this afternoon between two of the members of the Denver & Rio Grande base ball club. The contestants are said to be well matched and the race promises to be an exciting one.

Bob McWade yesterday presented at the cashier's window in one of our city banks a check for a small amount and politely requested the payment thereof. The cashier in reply said "that he did not in the least doubt but that he was the one and only McWade, but that the rules of the bank especially required that he should be identified." Mr. McWade was for a moment in a quandary but his face soon brightened up and he said to the cashier in his very amusing way, "If my old dog Snyder was here he would soon identify me." Suffice to say that the check was cashed without further controversy.

Mr. L. F. Vickers, of Monument, filed with County Clerk Eagan yesterday articles of agreement [illegible] the Eureka and Marian. These [illegible] properties are located on Hay creek, one of the tributaries of the Monument, and Mr. Vickers [illegible] that some rich developments will soon be made.

Family matinee at the Opera House this afternoon at two o'clock. Rip Van Winkle will be the play rendered, and the ladies and children should all turn out and see Robert McWade in his personation of the title role. Admittance to all parts of the house fifty cents, children half price.
